

To Our Employees, Customers, Suppliers and Future Customers –

I have such a great respect for the history of Mitsui Seiki and the wonderful and talented people who have built this amazing business. It is truly a cut above the rest (pun intended).

First, it is my sincere privilege to be the new President of Mitsui Seiki USA. I am incredibly proud to lead this organization and equally excited to have the opportunity to work with such a talented and enthusiastic group of people.

Before I arrived here, I had the pleasure of leading successful teams in operations, manufacturing, sales and engineering sectors for nearly two decades. I bring a deep passion for innovation, process improvement, and superior customer service which I believe will be a great compliment to Mitsui Seiki's deep history of manufacturing innovation, disruptive engineering, and world class application support.

As the new President, I am committed to three key areas of focus: Our people, our products and our processes.

We must continue to produce inventive and cutting-edge machine tools and engineering solutions that meet the evolving needs of our customers, while constantly improving our own processes to maximize efficiency and quality. By listening to our customers' needs/concerns, Mitsui Seiki develops creative solutions that help them achieve their goals. As the requirements for industry 4.0 and 5.0 continue to evolve, and the challenges of cost pressure and talent retention continue to mount, our customers will need to continue to find new and creative ways to ensure quality and sustainability while making capacity, cost and production optimization a priority. Mitsui Seiki will be there to help.

As we continue to shake off the dust of Covid-19, it is more important than ever before to reach and educate our customers on the many ways Mitsui Seiki is unique to our competition. Our proven and longstanding history as "problem solvers", providing outside the box, cutting edge and cost-effective turnkey engineering solutions; particularly in this heavily resource constrained environment is the secret sauce.

I believe that our greatest asset is the innovative and forward-thinking history and reputation Mitsui Seiki has worked hard to establish. We will continue to invest in and strengthen our people, our technology, and our infrastructure to position Mitsui Seiki as an industry leader for many years to come.

Best,

Dan
